

Message 15

What events preceded the reception of the Messenger's messages. How this Messenger had to learn to deal with receiving a vision. What vision the Messenger received years ago. A herald is in no way privileged compared to his fellow human beings. People should not be afraid of the appearance of extraterrestrial air and water objects. In this message, the herald would like to tell you, his beloved people, how he found the courage to write down the messages he received in images and to convey them to those who are interested. Making this decision was not easy, and the messenger quickly realized the emotional strain it would entail. He prayed fervently and sincerely to God, asking Him to give him the certainty that he was doing the right thing and that it was indeed his heart's desire to pass on what he had received. The writing of the first message was preceded several years earlier by a vision that the herald received. He was very confused by it and for a long time could not quite make sense of what he had seen. Years passed during which he received further visions and had to process them first. Over time, however, he discovered that they were all connected. The herald would never have had the courage to talk to other people about these visions. However, he did discuss them with a very close relative, and the reaction of this kind-hearted person gave the herald the courage and confidence to no longer stand alone, even though the responsibility for what he would now do with these visions lay entirely with him alone. No one could take that away from him. He felt within himself that it was a very intimate matter that he had to come to terms with. He repeatedly asked God for clarity and understanding about what he should do with it. The intimate realization then gradually grew as the Herald made the decision and found the courage to write. You see, it was not an idea that came to him overnight. No, truly, many years had to pass, and during this time the realization had to grow that it was a mission that the herald had brought with him to Earth at his birth. It is not a selection based on good behavior or a sinless life, no, truly not, for even this herald has great difficulty recognizing his own mistakes and gradually correcting them with God's help. He, too, made many mistakes in the course of his life and often believed himself to be right. Recognizing his own mistakes and admitting them was a lengthy process and required the courage of inner insight until the present day. Now this herald has once again found the courage to share with you, beloved people who are interested in it, the vision he received years ago. The herald received the vision in the early hours of the morning, between sleep and waking. In his dream, he was led into a room surrounded by numerous windows. Looking out, he saw the planet Earth from a great height and the universe above him. In the middle of this room stood a glass vessel similar to a large flower vase in which images played out like in a film. They moved around the glass vessel. However, the herald could not make out the details of the images being played. It surprised him greatly and he was very pleased about it. Now he saw beings dressed in white who looked like nuns approaching him, and in his joy he wanted to show them what he had just experienced with the glass vessel. However, when they looked, the vessel was black and there were no more images to be seen. This made him very sad, but not the beings in white robes. On the contrary, they were very pleased about it. Instead, the herald was to hand them something that looked like frozen vegetables that were just thawing. The beings were very pleased about this. Now he was shown a round disc made of clay that reminded him of fragrant speculoos biscuits. This disc was about the size of a normal plate. He was allowed to take this disc in his hands and, upon examining it, he saw that it had different impressions on both sides. On one side, he saw a smiling sun with sparkling blue eyes and rays emanating from around it. Then he turned the disc over and saw an extraterrestrial being, similar to those often found in rock paintings or engraved in some countries. Now, looking out of one of the many windows, the herald saw a small elevator connecting the universe with the Earth. He was now allowed to place this disc into this elevator with indescribable joy, inexpressible peace, and gratitude. Immediately, the elevator shot toward the Earth at indescribably high speed, arriving gently and carefully. There he saw people, families with children who were happy. Now something that looked like blue ink spread very slowly but steadily until it covered a large area. Here the vision ended. Please understand that the herald would not take on any special position on this Earth as a result of this; on the contrary, he is exposed to many unpleasant challenges that he must cope with. True heavenly heralds are aware of their mission to help and enjoy no privileges either on earth or in heaven. They are not given preferential treatment and, like all people, they must gradually internalize the heavenly laws and principles of life and refine their character traits. For them, too, this arduous work on their own personality means that they must never rise above their fellow human beings in any way whatsoever. They must be very careful not to be influenced by earthbound beings. This heavenly herald will also try to continue his mission of assistance for as long as he is able. As you can see from the vision, the beloved deity in the I Am and the extraterrestrial beings are inseparably connected. They carry out their mission of assistance without directly interfering in earthly events. However, they are able and willing to be a supportive help to humans. They have always done so and will always do so. You beloved, kind-hearted humans, please gradually become more and more accustomed to the idea that you will often see indefinable air and water objects. This should make you fearless towards them. When they appear, you humans should not fall into chaos. There is truly no reason for this. What the future of your planet will look like is currently difficult to predict and depends on many factors. An improvement in both climatic conditions and among you humans would be possible through an increasing expansion of consciousness and the original recognition of the true self. Do not be misled by misinformation and statements that you are subject to an optical illusion when observing non-terrestrial flying objects. Confirmation of unknown air and water objects would only come when scientists could confirm them beyond doubt. But that is wrong. In many cases, the appearance of such flying objects is dismissed as an illusion in order to make people feel insecure. But that does not change their appearance. This herald himself had such a sighting many years ago. He was not alone, but a close relative, who has also agreed to help with the website and the dissemination of the messages, was present at this event. The loving spirit asks you not to let yourselves be unsettled by negative news spread by your media. This leads to a drop in vibration and you feel bad. However, this should not be the case. Please do not be upset by some of the reactions of your worldly rulers. Please understand that they too are often tools of earthbound beings and unknowingly allow themselves to be guided and led by them. They mistakenly believe that they are doing good, but this is far from always being the case. In their sometimes arrogant manner, they are not always aware of this and instead cause even greater damage. This situation cannot be changed, but please always remember that through your positive charisma and your good-natured being, you can do a lot of good even without entering into politics, as is often the case with people who think they can change something by doing so. But once they are trapped in this world, they no longer have free will, even though they believe they do. Earthly things are far too entangled and interwoven with each other and distorted beyond spiritual recognition. This is a tragedy for such people because they are not aware of it. If you seek a heartfelt spiritual connection to the divine, cosmic energies will flow to you, flooding both your soul and your human being. This will make your soul feel good and take up more space within you. Through your way of being, you will become lights in the dark world of your beautiful planet. Please never give up and do not react with popular uprisings and chaos. But always be aware of your heavenly origin to which you want to return. Fulfill your daily tasks and duties with joy and ask the deity to guide and direct your thoughts. If you have a special task to accomplish the next day, ask HIM for the right thoughts to carry it out. Be confident and you will be able to live through this time unscathed. I call this to you in the spirit of love and with a joyful heart. (December 2025) In the love of God
