

Message 10

How nature miraculously revealed itself to the messenger

A heavenly messenger enjoys no privileges over other people and is sometimes exposed to danger

Why must kind and honest people stay away from unlawful demonstrations?

How can they still do a lot of good for their environment and their fellow human beings? May your life be a prayer and your prayer be your life.

Why climate change began with the crucifixion of Jesus and how the meteorological phenomenon that occurred was beneficial.

How those condemned to death at the crucifixion of Jesus became the first witnesses of Christ's grace in the afterlife.

Why the deity cannot intervene in the evil deeds of humans.

The beloved deity cannot approve of the death penalty, but neither can it approve of the transgressions of criminals against other people.

How particularly humiliated women in countries with fanatical dress codes must behave in order to protect their lives.

Why power-hungry people introduced today's means of payment and how they act to further increase their wealth.

How you, people with hearts, can form a community among yourselves that gently blends into the community of all plants and animals.

The Spirit of God wishes to convey a message from the source of love to you, peaceful and sincere people.

After a pause, the messenger once again feels a deep need to receive and pass on the following message through divine inspiration and imagery. Certain life events do not always allow the word of divine love to be received.

In order for the soul of a messenger not to suffer, he must, like any other human being, exercise patience and wait until life circumstances allow him once again to receive the word of God in humility, modesty, and above all, in equality with all other human beings, in intimate and heartfelt connection with the divine.

The messenger must also honestly acknowledge his remaining faults and search for their causes.

This inner process then prevents him from reaching a sufficiently high spiritual and human level to be able to receive messages.

This inner process then prevents him from reaching a sufficiently high spiritual and human level to be able to receive messages.

He asks the deity to grant him special protection through heavenly beings of light so that no foreign and misleading thoughts can disturb or contaminate the flow from the source of love.

The messenger would like to tell you about an experience he had shortly after publishing Message 8. While traveling by car, he found himself at a highway rest stop in Wetteren, Belgium, on the way to Brussels Ostend. The place is not important, but what he experienced at this rest stop touched the Messenger so deeply in his soul that he does not want to keep it to himself. However, you must keep in mind that this is not a privilege granted only to the Messenger. No, that is really not the case.

The Spirit of God wants to show you, good and peaceful people, what you can experience with nature when you better understand the deep relationships that exist between you and it

It seems strange to feel nature in its deepest essence with love and devotion in a city of recreation, through what it wants to tell us.

The Messenger tries to describe his experience as best he can with words. May this bring joy to all of you and fill your souls with happiness.

The messenger tries to describe his experience as best he can with words. May this bring you all joy and fill your souls with happiness.

This city of tranquility is surrounded by nature and green spaces. But one very special place attracted the messenger. A meadow stretching to the horizon, with a few scattered bushes and trees and countless trees at the edge. As the messenger entered the meadow he was overcome with a deep sense of gratitude, respect, humility, and modesty. Although he greatly appreciates and loves nature, here it was graceful and different. Entering this natural space in all its beauty awakened gratitude in his soul. It was not only the messenger's gratitude, it was nature's gratitude. He felt in his soul the grateful devotion of every blade of grass, every bush, and every tree. In an intimate energetic connection, the messenger felt nature communicating with his soul.

"Come here and look around, observe us carefully, what we are and who we are. We form a collective among ourselves, a connection that extends across the entire earth. Can you understand that? We are every plant, every blade of grass, every tree, connected to each other by an energy. Feel the vitality and joy of life, the peace that emanates from us, for your joy and well-being, you humans. Try to see and understand us differently, more deeply and clearly. Try to establish an intimate spiritual connection with us and let our life force work on you.

Then you will no longer just see and recognize the blade of grass, the flower, the tree. You will recognize and feel us in our worldwide connection with each other, and you will act differently than before. Our connection to you humans is peaceful and beneficial for your mind and body. Use it, and your view will change. You will feel our life force and our joy of life and heal. "

This experience put the messenger in a high vibration full of joy and gratitude that lasted a long time. He, too, now sees nature with his spiritual eye. Become still within yourself and let the silence envelop you, then you will see and hear things in nature with your spiritual eyes that you have never seen or heard before. Hear and see what nature wants to tell you

These are messages that are also new to the messenger. Every message conveyed by the Spirit of God is also new and partly unknown to the one who receives it and passes it on in writing. A messenger has no privileges or advantages over other peaceful people who are connected to God or seek God. On the contrary, he is exposed to various dangers and can only ask God with all his heart to grant him and his wife the necessary protection in all their ways. On several occasions, the messenger and his wife could have been seriously injured or even lost their lives while driving. Everything always turned out well, and in retrospect it is incomprehensible that nothing worse happened in these situations. It is a daily decision, made in sincere devotion and deep love for the divine, whether to continue one's mission or not. However, the heart and soul of a heavenly messenger always rejoice in new messages, which he then wants to pass on to people with heart who read them and want to continue their lives step by step, without fanaticism and with a lot of patience in order to return to their heavenly home. The heavenly principles of life and the loving but not strict laws of heaven are gradually implemented.

Since the original creation with the original parents and the beings they created, heavenly virtues such as gentleness, mercy, patience, tolerance, goodwill, love for and among each other, understanding and patience, humility, modesty, and impersonality, and thus the equality of all inhabitants of heaven a happy life. All the wonderful life experiences that are had in heavenly existence are gratefully passed on by the inhabitants of heaven to the deity to be recorded. The inhabitants of heaven do not lead a boring and monotonous life, as humans often think.

The original central sun is the spiritual and subtle sun from which all spiritual and material suns throughout the universe have emerged.

It contains the information about all life that has ever been recorded and stored, as well as the fundamental elements of the original creation and the qualities necessary for heavenly life

The possibility of creating a material universe already existed in the original Central Sun in the form of basic elements in a spiritual and subtle form. The condensation of the original energies into a tiny elementary particle and the subsequent Big Bang led to the transformation of subtle matter into gaseous and solid matter. Many researchers wonder how it was possible for the Big Bang to create a visible universe out of nothing.

Well, the conditions were already in place, as all the necessary basic elements were already present in the original central sun, without which the creation of the visible universe could never have taken place. It must be understood that it was never the will of the heavenly inhabitants to create a solid universe in place of the subtle worlds universe in place of the subtle worlds. This was solely the will of those who had chosen a different path. It was difficult for them to accept the fact of living in a world without hierarchy, with a deity as the supreme advisor who does not want to be worshipped or revered, but exists in equality with all inhabitants of heaven. However, the fundamental idea of a hierarchy prevailed among the fallen beings who wanted this separation. They now had free will and the personal decision to separate themselves from the heavenly being, with the tragic consequences that you know today. But see with foresight that not all people who are born into this world carry this attitude within them from the outset. No, many people cannot come to terms with the earthly principles of life that prevail on Earth because deep down they feel and recognize that life brings with it many difficulties, dissatisfaction and injustice. They sincerely and honestly believe that they can change something and become involved in either politics or environmental organizations.

However, in doing so, they often lose their orientation and their sense of the right path, which leads them to extreme worldviews that no longer have anything to do with the heavenly way of life

The Spirit of God understands this, but cannot condone fanatical behavior. The Spirit of God urges these people not to oppose the orders and laws given by humans. These fulfill their function in your world, for they prevent chaos and much harm. The fallen beings have used them for their own protection. However, you should not concern yourselves with this. You can certainly demonstrate peacefully as long as you respect law and order. It is good that you are committed to a good cause, but recognize your limits and do not exceed them. You will come into conflict with the law, and you should not do that to yourself or others. There are other ways to do good for others, for nature, and for the environment. The ability of every human being to want to do good for nature, the animal world, and their fellow human beings is greater than you think. If you adopt a benevolent, positive, and peaceful attitude towards your environment, this will undoubtedly have an effect on your immediate surroundings . But don't forget: first, with divine help and support, expand your consciousness; only then will you enter into the right spiritual and human vibration that will enable you to act correctly without fanaticism . Then you will be unable to harm yourself or others. Put your personal will aside and seek not what benefits you, but what benefits your environment. Your perspective will broaden and you will see things from a different angle. In this way, you will slowly and patiently grow in the heavenly principles of life and apply them more and more.

By raising your psychic and human vibration, which you can clearly perceive through increased life energy and joie de vivre, you are protected from hostile spiritual beings by your spiritual light. Your fellow human beings will feel and perceive this luminosity and show you kindness. The free flow of these primordial cosmic energies, primordial two-stranded forces emanating from the primordial central sun, enters into a cycle of constant flow and reflux. Your gratitude to the divinity, the free and neutral universal being, will be a unique prayer. May your life be a prayer and your prayer be your life. Thanks to your being, you will enter into such an intimate and heartfelt spiritual connection with the divinity within me that it will no longer be necessary to use specific words to confidently entrust your concerns to the spirit of love

. You will feel remorse for the unpleasant things you have done in thoughts, words, and deeds, and you will hand them over to Christ the Godhead to be transformed and neutralized. The negative consequences of your erroneous actions will no longer cause harm. I, the Spirit of Love, tell you this in all sincerity. Please abide by it. The consequences of unpleasant actions, such as those found on Earth today, have enormous effects on the environment and thus on the weather, as you cannot imagine.

It is not only about warlike conflicts, but about the actions of all people on your planet. The Spirit of God does not go into detail here, because that would immediately lower your psychic and human vibration. But that is far removed from the benevolent and understanding intention of God.

Climate change had its origin and thus its beginning at the crucifixion of Jesus. The weather, which had been calm and steady until then, changed abruptly during the crucifixion of Jesus. Dark clouds, rain, storms, and earthquakes were the result.

While Jesus was dying on the cross, such a change occurred in the elements of the earth that it continues to this day. The executioners, who had accepted Jesus' barbaric death mercilessly and without any emotion, were seized with fear and terror at the sight of the hours of darkness and the onset of storm and rain.

Earthquakes also occurred. But the rain was a blessing for Jesus; it quenched his thirst, washed his body, and cleansed him externally. Jesus now experienced a visible cleansing of what the executioners had done to him, as well as a transformation visible to the spiritual eye and thus a neutralization of all faults and imperfections. The forgiveness of sins then became visible to the spiritual eye through the sparkling of the soul particles. What happens to all who can deeply understand these events was now accomplished. Please return home without fanaticism and without self-imposed burdens that neither the Deity nor Christ demand of you. The burdens imposed by religious leaders are deliberately imposed to distract believers from their path home. They place great importance on outward appearances that correspond to their fanatical ideas but I have never imposed these rules on you humans, who are beings of love.

Women are particularly affected by these merciless rules. If they live in countries that are hostile to them, they must not rebel against the rules imposed by religious leaders in order to protect themselves and preserve their lives.

But if you live in a free country, without fanaticism and without such rules, you have the right to act as you see fit and as you feel within yourselves.

Be aware, however, that these humiliating dress codes never originate from my spirit of love. The spirit of universal and free love would never do such a thing to human beings. You must, however, respect and obey the laws in force. The spirit of universal and free love is not a spirit of resistance and rebellion against those who think differently. Unfortunately, you must understand that I cannot intervene to change the wrong attitude of many fanatics, as this would be contrary to people's free will. That must never be the case. It would have negative repercussions all the way up to the heavenly being and would immediately violate the laws and principles of liberal life, with serious consequences. The sacrifice of Christ in the man Jesus would then have been in vain. The religious fanatics of the hereafter and the power-hungry fallen beings would instantly triumph. Please do not give space to the thought of resistance that exists within you.

Strive to expand your inner consciousness and mature spiritually so that you can return directly to your heavenly home. Quietly place your worries in God's hands in your thoughts.

It is not a sign of weakness if you do not rebel against the existing fanatical orders, but your spiritual and human vibration will protect you from the unyielding religious leaders.

Take my words to heart, and you will come through this difficult time unscathed

Much is currently in flux and has serious consequences. Your world has reached an unprecedented level of deception, lies, and manipulation.

Power-hungry people who are influenced by earthbound beings from the beyond unfortunately do not recognize the gravity of the global situation. They believe that their decisions can secure world peace. However, this is not the case. In reality, they are spiritually blind and do not realize what a dangerous path they are on for all of humanity. This is truly dramatic and tragic. The Earth is very sensitive in this regard and has to endure all these things. It should provide you with a place of well-being, peace, and unity. But that is no longer possible. The leaders of various countries who are fighting each other are constantly trying to maintain and expand their power. For them, human life has no great significance, and they accept killing and massacring under the pretext that it is for a good cause.

But what is good about innocent people being killed in the most cruel ways ? However, these armed conflicts have a far greater impact on the weather conditions on your Earth than expected. Any negative energy released through wrong actions, be they thoughts, words, or even deeds, is stored in the storage layer around the Earth, as it cannot be dissolved and is therefore not lost. But when the time comes, the situation takes an ominous turn, combined with forming thunderstorm cells and the negatively and positively charged particles they contain. The result is a discharge in the form of a thunderstorm. However, this weather phenomenon is now intensified by the amount of energy released from the storage layer. The consequences are no longer thunderstorms, but storms whose course is unpredictable and which endanger the lives of humans, nature and wildlife. The harmony of yesteryear, which was characterized by stable and calm weather , has been disrupted. The permanent exploitation of natural resources of various origins, such as oil and natural gas, is throwing the Earth's energy field out of balance. This is leading to drastic changes in climate zones and weather conditions. These are not visible to the naked eye, but they exist and are very disturbed.

The unipolar energy transmitted by solar radiation and the sun can no longer be sufficiently absorbed and stored by the various mineral resources on both the continents and in the oceans, with the result that the cooling system is increasingly deteriorating both on land and in water.

How can these ominous processes be positively influenced? Through the event that took place

2000 years ago when Jesus sacrificed himself on the cross. Do not underestimate the process of forgiveness of sins that became visible at the time of Jesus' death. The saving forgiveness of all transgressions and the ominous threat of storms were closely linked

But what the executioners perceived as a threat was a help to Jesus. The storm and the rain brought him welcome refreshment and water to quench his thirst in the form of raindrops in his mouth. Even for Jesus, this was strange. Those who remained faithful to him until his death fixed their spiritual gaze on Jesus.

They could not perceive the threatening weather conditions, but rather the spark of his soul after his physical death. Even the criminals sentenced to death who were crucified with Jesus were not spared this event. Although they were sentenced to death according to the earthly law of the time, they were the first witnesses of what what happened to Jesus, and after their physical death on the cross, they came to enjoy the grace of Christ for their heavily burdened souls. They could now spiritually recognize that they would receive help beyond their earthly death if they were only willing to accept it.

The healing process of their wounded souls could now begin. They were the first witnesses of this great event in the afterlife.

Even 2000 years after this event, the grace of Christ, the loving divinity, the spirit of love in the I AM, still works for criminals, even if they are sentenced to death according to earthly laws. But know that I cannot approve of the death penalty.

My universal and free nature is constructive and preserves life. How could I then take someone's life? That is not in keeping with my kind and gentle nature, which is full of compassion and understanding. Nor can I condone crimes of any kind.

No human being has the right to cause another human being suffering in any way.

However, the benevolent way of life of the inhabitants of heaven is no longer present among you humans on earth. There are only a few benevolent people left who care for others in need with effort and diligence. It is also these benevolent people who deeply understand these messages, which are conveyed by the spirit of love, and recognize in them the confirmation of their benevolent actions . However, these messages must be accessible to all people who seek help and sincerely strive to fundamentally change their lives.

The creators of these worlds of dense matter have taken great care to ensure their safety by creating earthly laws, especially law and order, to protect themselves by consciously erecting legal barriers against the many injustices of wealth and poverty, so that no one can challenge them.

In this way, they could be sure of enjoying their lives to the fullest with every comfort. However, you can see that the equality of beings as lived by the inhabitants of heaven does not exist and will never be sought after by power-hungry people.

Since they no longer want to be interested in the wonderful qualities of heavenly life, a means had to be created to make this separation clear. They had completely covered up the gifts of gentleness, tolerance, love, kindness, humility, modesty, and impersonality with greed for power, wealth, and contempt for less fortunate people who have to fight for their survival. To compensate for the loss of these heavenly principles and laws of life, a substitute had to be created, which was originally intended primarily to serve those who no longer showed any particular interest in compassion and pity. Thus, the means of payment was created. Thanks to these diverse opportunities to obtain means of payment, there were no longer any limits to ingenuity . Can you follow this line of thought? A cheap substitute had to be created for the benevolent qualities of the pure soul, which had emerged from the heavenly being and whose value fluctuated artificially between high and low. Thus, what you now call money was the appropriate means to replace all lost heavenly qualities. Natural resources, oil, and other deposits are artificially overvalued or undervalued to create greater wealth at the right time.

The ability to use the valuable minerals from the original central sun respectfully and creatively is no longer possible on Earth, a planet of dense matter.

However, there have always been incarnated, benevolent, and honest beings of light who were fully aware of their mission to do good, even though many of them unfortunately failed.

Many lost their way in the chaos of earthly events. Thanks to contemporary and honest heavenly messengers who take their mission very seriously, the dear God can provide information about the true nature of the human soul.

However, understand that there can be no absolute truth and that only fragments can be pieced together bit by bit, as the human brain is very quickly overwhelmed.

Nowadays, people often strive to enjoy their earthly life in their physical shell as much as possible, thinking that you only live once.

But this is a mistake. By refusing to acknowledge their mistakes and focusing on earthly wealth and prosperity, the soul becomes increasingly heavy. Since the origin of this heaviness is the soul's failure to recognize its true nature, it is impossible to return to the heavenly realm.

But this is a mistake. By refusing to acknowledge their mistakes and focusing on earthly wealth and prosperity, the soul becomes increasingly heavy. Since the origin of these spiritual burdens is earthly in nature, after its transition to the afterlife, the soul is inevitably magnetically bound to the earth and cannot detach itself from it. It is very difficult for them to understand the true origin of their soul's suffering, as they reject any help from the afterlife by saving beings and cannot detach themselves from what filled their life on earth through their human body.

Please look at your life with less short-sightedness and your return journey with more foresight.

Understand that every person has the right to a home and a job in order to lead their earthly life. However, these things must not take over.

Instead, take the time you need to focus on yourself and gradually discover your true purpose.

If you do this, your life will change fundamentally. You will see your surroundings differently than before. Thanks to your inner transformation, you will see every blade of grass, every bush, every tree, every flower with different eyes. With your spiritual eye you will be able to feel and perceive wonderful things, such as nature and the animal world thanking you as a whole. Thanks to your selfless and honest attitude towards life , you will be able to positively influence the weather. When you are spiritually and humanly at a high vibrational level, your soul will be filled with eternal gratitude towards the beloved divinity.

In this state, where your soul transcends your physical body and shines in the most beautiful colors of the rainbow, you will be able to discover how the elements of the earth react to this state of your soul. In this way, you will become an energetic support for tormented nature and the elements of the earth. You will be able to see how the clouds dissolve under the influence of a light wind and a ray of eternal love illuminates you. In this way, you will reach such a high vibration that this bipolar cosmic energy will enter you in a cycle of giving and receiving. You will be able to feel and recognize within yourselves

the "I am that I am."

Strive every day to change yourselves positively, step by step, but without fanaticism and with understanding, tolerance, compassion, and gentleness toward your fellow human beings.

If many people on your planet did the same, your weather conditions would be better than those you are currently experiencing.

Give free rein to your inner feelings and thank your Earth for the earthly life it gives you, thank the Sun by thinking with humility and modesty of the life energy it tirelessly sends you every day. It will gratefully accept this and pass it on to the central sun, and thus the cycle of giving and receiving will be set in motion again. Convey your gratitude to the nature that surrounds you, and through the collective of all trees and plants on Earth, every bush and every blade of grass, however small they may be, will receive your gratitude with sensitivity. In this way, you form a collective of benevolent and generous people, similar to the collective of all existing plants and animals, which gently interlock with one another. (July 2025)

In the love of God

Important message with additional additions

Before addressing a new topic, the author of this message would like to draw attention to the following points.

Since it is not possible for the messenger to translate the texts into other languages due to the time and effort involved, and since he is not a computer expert in the design of these message pages, but is already very happy to have created the existing pages, he is happy to leave it to benevolent and honest people who wish to do so to create something better with the texts of the messages or to suggest other translations. However, the Spirit of God insists that the meaning of the content not be changed. Please understand that it is sometimes very difficult for this messenger to receive messages in a high spiritual and human vibration. The demands are enormous, and the messenger takes care to remain under God's protection so that no foreign thoughts from souls bound to the earth and hostile to the messages from the source of God's love can distort these divine messages.

However, the current global political situation is very tense. Peaceful and honest people are concerned about their future and, above all, that of their children and grandchildren. This is completely understandable, but the spirit of love asks sincere and honest people not to be discouraged and to try as far as possible to seek a spiritual connection with him every day. Then place all your worries trustingly in the merciful hands of God. Always be aware of your weaknesses and mistakes, but do not torment your conscience with overwhelming reproaches. Rather, ask the Deity, through the grace of Christ, to transform the mistakes you have made, whether in thoughts, words, or deeds, so that they may be neutralized and not recorded and harm your soul at an inopportune moment through negative consequences. That would be what is called karma.

This does not have to be the case if you are honest with yourself and realize that you no longer want to commit the mistakes and transgressions that you yourself have recognized. If it does happen, do not despair and do not be discouraged. God, as the loving, neutral, and magnificent Being of the entire universe, understands your actions, but simply try, without fanaticism, to gradually put your mistakes behind you.

In His infinite mercy, the deity has never at any time started or ordered a war or any act of war. He is the god of constructive life and the preservation of all life forms, be they plants, animals, or humans.

Nevertheless, you currently see and feel a frightening world situation that, despite numerous wars, has never existed before. Power-hungry and domineering people, who are guided and influenced by invisible evil souls from the beyond, make wrong decisions without knowing that their actions only make the situation worse.

They mistakenly believe that they can improve their position of power by making threats and buying even more destructive and deadly weapons. But this is not the case. Unfortunately, these people are no longer open to other solutions.

What has made the overall situation worse? The wounded and killed soldiers leave their battered and injured, even torn physical bodies, and their souls instantly separate from their lifeless bodies. They were aware that they could die even before they went to war. Deep down, however, they were prepared to defend their homeland and tried to protect it from the attacker with all the means at their disposal. But now that their bodies are dead, they can no longer do so. However, their deep attachment to their homeland has not changed, and they believe that they must continue to fulfill their duty as soldiers, cannot leave the earth, and remain connected to the theaters of war. A real tragedy.

Please include these souls in your prayers as well.

These souls are very heavily burdened in many ways. Going to war with the intention of killing the “enemy” is already a very heavy psychological burden. Every day, they were inspired by the idea of freeing their homeland from the aggressor, which meant that they had to kill if necessary. They have no other choice, because they too must defend their own lives. It is difficult for them to imagine that the soldiers they face on the front lines have to do exactly the same thing.

But they too are victims of a power struggle, and they too wanted to defend their homeland.

Can you imagine, dear friends, how fallen soldiers try to continue using their weapons even after their physical death because they mistakenly believe that they still have to do so in order to defeat the enemy? In their current state of mind, giving up is out of the question for them. They are and remain warriors. They are unaware of their situation, they can no longer change anything in the course of the war and could not accept this information from the beings of salvation and help from the heavenly world, as they do not want to be traitors to their fatherland.

Their souls are so burdened that it will take a long time to put all these things in order and attain the necessary awareness to give up these earthly things so that they are no longer magnetically connected to the Earth and its events through their souls.

With time, they must understand that their earthly life is over, and the sincere and deep desire to gradually free themselves from their heavy spiritual burdens with the help of the beings of salvation and the love of God will grow stronger.

Can you imagine how many former battlefields on this earth, where peace has returned, are still haunted by deceased soldiers who cannot accept this supposed peace? People who are particularly sensitive to this can sense it, and a shiver runs down their spine, urging them to leave this place as quickly as possible. Hence the advice of the Spirit of God: Do not necessarily visit these former battlefields to remember the old battles. If you do so out of interest, then commemorate the fallen soldiers "ON BOTH SIDES". They were people with immortal souls who devoted themselves body and soul to their fatherland and, sadly, did not survive the tragedy of war. Wars are waged by the peoples themselves, among themselves and against each other, as if humans had an eternal right to their land. However, this is not the case. From God's perspective, this is understandable, but today, understand what dark and relentless forces from the beyond, of enormous magnitude, are trying to influence events through human instruments. However, they have nothing to fear, as they only intervene indirectly in acts of war. Large areas of very different countries with different inhabitants, such as indigenous peoples, have been divided among themselves by power-hungry people with no regard for human life. They regard planet Earth as their property, as a great achievement of their know-how and survival. What a mistake in thinking! Your benevolent planet, thanks to a body of bones and soft tissue, to provide a shell for your immortal soul to inhabit the planet, with all the risks and dangers that this entails. These are not to be neglected. It is and always has been a matter of your inner life, the light body, the soul, but contrary to the heavenly laws of life. This will not change as long as this state of incarnation and death continues. But you sincere people who strive for a much deeper expansion of your spiritual consciousness are always aware of your heavenly origin and nurture within yourselves the deep and sincere desire to return there without detours

You recognize what those in power can do to other people with their unyielding attitude and how long it will take in the afterlife to reach a different consciousness.

No more time must be lost, and selfish people must have the opportunity to be informed about these events. There is no more time for supposedly well-kept secrets that only serve those who profit from them. Therefore, this messenger allows readers of good will to use these texts for other purposes, as they may find them useful. However, please never change the meaning of the content, as this would entail great risks and the texts of the messages would then no longer be in their original form. However, you may use them if necessary to bring these events to the attention of other benevolent people.

Please understand that this is not about changing the current world order, which is led by the powerful politicians and leaders of this earth, but that you, loving and sincere people, are like lighthouses in the darkest night, showing the way to those who might not find it without you. Your valuable help in passing on these messages is of the utmost importance, something this messenger was not aware of until today. However, the Spirit of Love has made it clear to him that there is no time to lose. People are unhappy and anxious, waiting for the coming events. But I, the Spirit of God, who is Love, want to guide you through this time without fear or anxiety . I urge you to consider something essential:

Humans are not the only humanoid species in the universe. Your Earth is by no means the only place in the infinity of the universe where human life is possible. For a long time now, and increasingly so today, Earth has been regularly visited by benevolent extraterrestrial visitors. This thought should not frighten you in any way, quite the contrary. Become more and more familiar with this reality

Please believe that, just like the humans living on Earth, they emerged from the Fall that followed the separation at Creation. However, they have reached a level of spiritual consciousness that far exceeds that of the inhabitants of Earth . Their worlds, which originate from other planetary systems and galaxies, do not have the dense materialization of Earth. Their appearance is very similar to that of humans, but one must take into account the living conditions of their home planet in terms of density, rotation, gravity, and the solar radiation of their stars. But they have one thing in common with you: they were once inhabitants of the heavens, just like you, with the same abilities and the same heavenly laws and principles of life. However, their spiritual development, maturity, and expansion of consciousness were different. Their original nature, which is good, modest, humble, grateful, and helpful toward the other inhabitants of the existing planets, is very pronounced and highly developed. From the beginning, they were psychologically less affected by repeated reincarnations in a physical body. Their progressive spiritual development enabled them to make faster progress in the technology and propulsion systems of their flying machines. These opportunities were granted to them because of their truly peaceful and peace-loving attitude in their hearts. There is no superiority over the inhabitants of other planets. What they do, they do in perfect spiritual unity, in consultation with the deity, the most loving, ingenious, neutral, and impersonal being in the universe. Thanks to the enormous storage capacity of all the technical experience they have gathered, this can be retrieved on demand and put to good use. However, it is used exclusively for peaceful purposes. They also possess free will, which they use exclusively for spiritual development and spiritual maturation. Their inherent attitude prohibits them from doing anything that could harm an inhabitant of another planet in the slightest. They, too, have not yet achieved the goal of returning to their heavenly home, but in agreement with the deity, they stand by the inhabitants of other planets in other galaxies with tireless kindness and advise them without wanting to interfere directly. That would no longer be in accordance with heavenly law and would inevitably put them in great danger. However, you must know that even the rulers of your planet, who believe they can manipulate nuclear weapons that are destructive to humanity without restriction, are subject to clear limits.

The deep spiritual connection that exists between your non-earthly brothers and sisters is particularly noticeable on the energetic level as a collective . The ability of humans to conceal themselves in their human existence is unfortunately not always obvious. They can deceive, manipulate, and lie without being directly noticed. This is not the case with your extraterrestrial friends. Their pure and benevolent thoughts are transmitted telepathically among themselves and received with joy, love, and gratitude.

Therefore, you need not fear their appearance.

But for those who are searching for the truth and can no longer make sense of many events on your planet, especially due to a flood of often superficial information, the deity wants to give you the opportunity to see and understand many things from a different perspective. Please turn your gaze to your heavenly home.

There will be no more terrible things there, no misery, no death, no hunger for the physical body, which particularly affects children.

It is sad to want to believe that on a land where thousands of innocent people, especially innocent children, have died as a result of war and hunger, it is possible to build something that is supposed to be a paradise-like resort for people with a high standard of living who know very well on which land they want to satisfy their personal needs.

Such thoughts are shocking and incomprehensible from God's perspective. You see how far malicious souls from the beyond will go to implement their selfish ideas through people who share their beliefs. However, these people are unaware of their role as executors.

Do not be overwhelmed by all kinds of information from various media. Their perspective is also very distorted, and they lack the necessary clarity to see and classify things correctly.

This message seemed very important to the messenger, who was inspired by the Spirit of God to convey it to you.
