

Planet Earth is a dangerous place for the human body to stay, due to the embodiment of a subtle light body, also known as the soul, in the physical body.

From the subtle light body to the dense human body. It is not the human body that has a soul, it is the soul that has incarnated in a human body. It is exposed to countless dangers. This is because the cellular composition of human beings is not compatible, i.e. in accordance with the Earth's gross matter. But how can we understand this?

Over time, the material has become denser. From an initially subtle Earth, dense matter formed over time. The subtle vibrations became slower and slower and gave birth to solid matter. Humans, however, are mainly made up of soft tissues and a high proportion of water in their bodies.

Our beloved deity has given, through a messenger, accurate information about the creation of the visible cosmos, the Earth, and the human being. These are the fallen beings who had only one desire: to create the human being with the help of the remaining energies of creation, so that he would feel good with his soul. They succeeded in doing so after long experiments. It took a long time to program the genes in such a way that conception was followed by the birth of the human being. However, this process of becoming human has cost them enormous energies over time, which they no longer have today.

Everything began in the spirit and ended in gross matter, and after the expiration of earthly time, everything will end again in subtle matter. The Earth's time is limited, and so are the human beings who live on it. The Earth is therefore not the center of human existence, but a temporary place of residence that fallen beings do not want to leave. They want to continue like this for eternity, but this is not possible after a precisely defined and limited time. God is not the creator of this Earth. He is the most impersonal and loving being there is, full of mercy, understanding, helpfulness, and the administrator of all the existing primitive energies that human beings do not know on Earth. He is at the same time the administrator, the giver and the dispenser of these energies in his original being, in his "I am God", as a loving being who has always existed.

Such a loving being, full of mercy and understanding, could never have and would never have created such a terrible environment for human beings. He is the protector, the eternal adviser to whom we ask for advice, but he does NOT impose himself in any way on the human being. It respects the inviolable free will of the human being and cannot interfere with what is called the autonomy of the human being, because that would be contrary to the heavenly law of life that the original Creation gave itself.

Half of human beings are therefore made up of water, which gently cushions small accidents, but injuries are not always prevented. The native soul should feel as comfortable as possible in the newly created body. A real tragedy. The light body, which once radiated a wonderful light from the original Creation, created by our SPIRITUAL PARENTS, each composed of a male and a female part, was so full of light and energy that this light and energy of cosmic origin had to be transformed in order to be able to incarnate into a human being. Otherwise, this union of soul and human being would never have worked. The human body could not have been programmed by fallen beings to live with such high energy. The cells, with their low-vibration programming, would not have been able to withstand it and survive. The Spirit of Love, our divinity, explains that no soul of high vibration from the luminous and peaceful heavens would ever voluntarily incarnate in an earthly envelope. It is a real drama that has taken place here and that was never wanted or planned by our spiritual ancestors or by God.

For comparison: you live in a bright and peaceful country, surrounded by nature in all its beauty, you live with nature and with each other in harmony and equality of high vibrations, in grateful humility, modesty and without putting your personality in the foreground, and therefore in a heavenly state. A good life in your own home is assured, you don't have to work, but you can gladly use your creative skills to redesign your home and environment. This is gratefully accepted by other locals, which creates a creative, constructive, and balanced relationship among the people of this country. Do you now want to voluntarily move to a country where there is harshness, inequality, crime of all kinds, where you have to work hard to earn a living and where only the strongest, the powerful, the rich, the oppressors destroy everything you have known so far? Would you not then feel a deep and unspeakable homesickness, you who have never wanted anything else than to live in peace with your soul and in harmony with yourselves? In truth, only those who have no other goal than to pursue their own interest feel at home here. To be in the limelight and stand there, big and high, with a high opinion of yourself.

Those who seek this thirst for power feel at home on Earth, while many others have come here voluntarily from Paradise in order to bring light, peace and original cosmic energy and thus to be a help and support to those who carry within them a deep nostalgia and a deep desire for the heavenly Paradise. They have a mission that has been entrusted to them even before they leave their beautiful country, paradise, to accomplish their mission on this Earth now low in light and energy, with the unceasing help of God.

But many kind-hearted people, who are willing to be an energetic support on this planet Earth, have been shipwrecked because they did not find the lifestyle habits so bad and have started to feel good over time. They have lost their bearings among all that is offered here and all the possibilities of access to fame and wealth. In doing so, their energy gradually decreases, darkens and their vibrations weaken, which makes them sick over time, because the cells of their body do not know this life and are increasingly solicited by negative accumulations.

Our beloved divinity calls us with earnestness and love: "Return as soon as possible to Paradise where heavenly conditions prevail and where the heavenly principles of life with their heavenly laws, which are modesty, humility, equality and the non-fulfilment of one's own personality, are lived.

The creators of human beings gave them a stable skeleton to be able to stand upright and thus counter physical force, gravity. Because there is no ease of movement on Earth. The force of gravity resulting from the Earth's rotation had to be put in place in order to ensure smooth mobility and the maintenance of muscle mass, which is exactly what astronauts face in the free universe. But due to the gravity and constitution of the human being, serious injuries are inevitable and were accepted during the creation of the Earth. Dense matter puts up an insurmountable resistance to the human body. Life on your planet is really difficult and dangerous. This will never change.

Human beings are very vulnerable to serious injuries caused by falls, even from low heights, and to accidents, especially with your means of transport. The solid material does not give way, a simple blow to the head is enough to cause serious injury. The Earth's attractive force can only be overcome by very sophisticated technical means in the field of propulsion. What the Earth has, it does not give back so easily. When the human being dies, the soul embodied in the human body inevitably separates. This law of life cannot be abrogated through the sacrifice of Christ incarnate in the human being Jesus. Christ, the first spiritual being created among all our creative parents, is therefore our brother and will remain so for eternity. Can you imagine that he does not have a dominant position in heaven and does not want to be worshipped, just like our creative spiritual parents? This would be tantamount to putting the personality in the foreground, which would no longer be in accordance with the law of equality and therefore with the law of heavenly life and the principles of life. It is here that the genesis of our divinity, the Spirit of love, plays a wonderful role. Here, too, the author deliberately refers to God's "counsel for life." The genesis of our divinity is explained in detail by the divine inspiration of a messenger who has reached great maturity in his spiritual consciousness.

Thanks to the sacrifice of Christ and many companions who followed him, creation could be saved and a return to the heavenly paradise is possible again. Because many incarnated souls no longer want it, because they prefer life on Earth. It has become a playground for them where they can satisfy their personal needs, and they even accept the damage they cause to human beings, nature and animals. This is really a serious and sad situation that God cannot change. In doing so, he would violate the law of human freedom, which would have serious consequences for all spiritual creation. The heavenly laws of life would again be irreversibly violated. But this will never happen, because divinity does not intervene in the lives of human beings. It causes him unspeakable harm and great pain to see what human beings do to their fellow human beings. But it was agreed to respect the free will of those who created the world and human beings. However, there will be a return to the freedom of heavenly lives. Only then can those who yearn to return home be able to explore and understand the depth of all existence.

At the time of his creation, the human being was subjected to an insurmountable barrier in his consciousness that makes it impossible for him to understand the seventh dimension as a whole. That is why it is not possible to remember this life and never will be. Deep understanding comes only through an EXPANSION OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

But let's get back to life on Earth. It would not be possible without the existence of the elements, water, air, fire, and earth or minerals. Air and water are essential to life thanks to their atoms and molecules. Both individually in the form of atoms and in the form of molecules, oxygen and water are essential for the functioning of cells. They form an indissoluble bond with human beings, they are vital and thus connect the human body even more closely to the Earth. It is therefore impossible to separate human beings from the Earth. If it were otherwise, the soul would instantly separate from the body and return to the afterlife. It is therefore impossible to survive in space without these elements. The expansion of consciousness and spiritualization means that human beings not only see the visible and the gross, but can also, in time, perceive subtle matter. The spirit of love calls us: "Do not cling to the material Earth. It will disappear, just as you will all return to where EVERYTHING began. I wish to accompany you and be your advisor with gentleness and understanding, thanks to my inexhaustible love. I wish nothing more than your well-being on your planet and your happiness, but observe what is happening in the world.

The situation is not pretty. I want to be your faithful companion in spirit, to provide you with cosmic energy if you seek to connect with me in spirit through the heart of your soul, the core of your being and your life, your immortal soul. (January 2025)
